Objectives

- Use Relative Pronouns correctly and describe people's physical appearance.

Focus on Grammar | Relative Pronouns

We use relative pronouns to refer to a noun mentioned before. They are used to join two or more sentences to form relative or complex sentences.

The following relative pronouns are used in defining and non-defining relative clauses:

	Person	Thing	Place	Time	Reason
Subject	who / that	which / that
Object	who / whom / that	which / that	where	when	why
Possessive	whose	whose

Examples: The shirt which you chose doesn't fit me. It's too small.

Complete the sentences with the correct relative pronouns.

- The old man who has just entered the room is my grandfather.
- The town where I grew up was very small.
- My neighbor, whose car was stolen last summer, has bought a new car.
- Your computer, which I fixed yesterday, had a bad virus.

Work with a Friend

Sit back-to-back with your partner. Describe the person / character in your picture. Your partner draws the picture in his / her notebook. Then compare the drawing to the picture. Use the words and phrases from the Vocabulary section. Find more words and phrases in the dictionary to help you describe the character / person better.

Work in Teams

Think of a famous person. Each team has to write a short description of his / her physical appearance. The opposite team has to guess which celebrity your team described. Repeat the activity three times. The team that guesses all three celebrities correctly wins.

Write It Right

Write about the people in the photos using relative clauses.

DIY

Bring three photos of your friends or relatives. Write the description of one of them. Have your classmates guess who you described and to point to the correct photo.

Ask your classmates to use relative clauses in their sentences.

Example: The woman who has long curly hair is your aunt.
